Milton B. Ochs Promoted.

Milton B. Ochs, general tourist agent of the Colorado Midland rallway, has been promoted to the position of general agent promoted to the position of general agents of the passenger department. The office of tourist agent has been abolished. Mr. Och's appointment takes effect at once. His promotion is a matter of great gratification to his legion of friends. He has cation to his legion of friends. He has been connected with the Midland for just one year, and the splendid ability shown in his work fairly won his promotion.—Dencer

One Advantage of a Pool.

A prominent official of one of the leading western trunk lines says that it was a mistake to assume that the railroads could not succeed in maintaining rates if allowed to form pools subject to the approval of the Interstate commission, because they failed to make pooling successful after ten or twenty-five years' effort, before the Interstate commerce law was passed. When the effort was made in the past, he added, there was no law to enforce the agreements between competing lines that make pooling contracts. Hence they were made one day to be violated the next. But a pool formed nuder laws that insured enforcement would be a success. If the interstate commission with the contract of the contract of the commerce of the contract of the c form pools subject to the approval of the to be violated the next. But a pool formed nuder laws that insured enforcement would be a success. If the interstate commission-ers cannot discover such papeable violations of the lawss are being made every day, the railroads which should become parties the operation of the inter-state commence the seems to be menting with favor. The New York World says: "The proposal to exempt traveling theatrical companies from the operation of the inter-state commence committee has given its approval, is thoroughly sensible and in the public interest. These companies minister in an important way, to the enjoyment of the people, and in that way render a public benefit well worthy of consideration. Their very existence depends upon their ability to secure transportation at reduced rates, and their transportation at reduced rates, and their transportation bears no competitive relation to commerce traffic, so that their commerce traffic, so that their commerce traffic, so that their competitive relation to the restrictions of the law competitor at a competitive relation to the competitive relation downs, but it is not usual that a woman bobs up and ruffles the even tenor of things. However, the Midland had an experience yesterday and the dame who sought to protect some of her alleged interests backed up her determination with a Winchester rille. The row occurred at Caroiff, a small station east of Glenwood Springs. It seems that the rallroad company, has prior rights to water in certain streams, and during the present dry weather has been compelled to use nearly all of it. Not far from Cardiff resides a mountain Amazon, who has a smallfarm. During the drouting the reroof atfalfa has been sorely in need of rain, but none came and the woman concluded to irrigate the farm with water from the railroad company's citch. Arming herself with a sixteen-shot Winchester rifle she proceeded to the honigate and turned the water of. The railroad cmployes remonstrated, but when she drew a bead on them they were only too glad to escape. She was boss of the situation. In the meantline the water was running percedigity through the hay field and the yesterday and the dame who sought to proescape. Sue was sors of the struction. In the meantime the water was running peacefully through the hay field and the woman is assured of a full crop if she and her rifle can stand the railroad off a few days. Personal and General.

Travel over both roads is quite heavy. Captain Douris says Garfield Beach never enjoyed such a run of patronage. Round trip rates prevail on all the rail roads to day -account of ploneer day. An excursion from Boston will be in Sait Lake this morning. There are about 100 members in the party.

Train No. 3 on the Rio Grande Western was abandoned yesterday, because of washouts near Green River.

The Union Packic will sell round trip tickets from Salt Lake to Ogden and re-turn at $1.50 to morrow on account of the grand masked ball to be given in the carni-val palace on the night of the 24th.

The passenger conductors on the Penn-sylvania lines have been requested to give a round is the Guarantee company of North America for $500. Heretofore when the conductors gave a personal bond a $3,000 bond was required. A company has been chartered at Pitts-burg to build an extensive system of tracks and sheds in which to maintain a storage yard for cars when out of service. When traffic is light there is often a great demand for storage and trucks. The company has a capital of $1,500,000.

Freight Rates.

The Toledo Blade says: The order forbidding the Wabash passenger conductors to wear flannel shirts while on duty went into effect July 1. The circular specifies only flannel shirts and does not interdict the wearing of cheviot, silk, percale, Jersey or sateen shirts, all of which are more fashionable and lum-tum this summer than the flannel shirts.
